

QA Analyst – New York, NY

We are looking for a talented individual to fill a QA Analyst position in our New York office. The current team works closely together in a friendly, professional and convivial environment. They are well versed in cutting edge technology, focused, driven to deliver and looking for someone who shares the same mentality to better the team.

The QA Analyst will evaluate and generate user information solutions by implementing and maintaining manual and automated test scenarios for use in Quality Assurance testing.

If you are an aggressive problem solver, professional and earnest then you may be just what we are looking for! You must be willing to push your limits and strive to improve your skillset to provide the best solutions for issues.

You are an ideal candidate if you have the following skillset:

Experienced with automated QA technologies

Selenium and Silk Test a plus

Must have excellent organizational and communication skills

Windows, Excel, Word, Basic SQL

Basic computer skills

Ability to shift priorities as the workload necessitates

Ability to clearly summarize and describe issues in bug tracking software

Ability to work independently but also can work as part of a team

Ability to do some basic troubleshooting to determine if an error is the result of user error

Understanding of the various types of testing including UI, volume and regression testing

Optional Skills:

Java, XML, HTML

Financial Industry exposure

IN EXCHANGE FOR YOUR EFFORTSWe offer you:

- 3 weeks vacation to start
- Paid holidays and sick time
- A generous bonus opportunity
- 100% company paid individual medical insurance
- A comprehensive health & medical benefits package
- $1K annual fitness reimbursement
- $3K referral bonus program
- 401(k) plan with 4.5% company match
- An awesome, flexible work environment
- And more!

Email: careers@acadiasoft.com